Burton bid challenged by council

HAVERHILL Town Council is launching a legal challenge with Suffolk County Council over the future of the Burton Centre.

The county council previously accepted St Nicholas Hospice Care's bid to take over the running of the purpose-built community centre – instead of that put forward by the town council.

Solicitors for the town council have now written to the county authority declaring their intention to seek a judicial review over the way Suffolk made its decision.

The town council believes the county council did not follow its own policies when selecting the St Nicholas Hospice Care bid, which would see the Burton Centre used as an outreach centre, coffee bar and shop.

Will Austin, town clerk at Haverhill Town Council, said the town council wants to use the Burton Centre as an open-access youth centre to combat anti-social behaviour and give young people something to do.

He said they also want the centre to be a place where young people can get advice and support in the areas of employment and skills, with agencies such as colleges, local authorities and the jobcentre having a presence there.

He said: "All this could be done from the Burton Centre. All the partners are lined up to deliver it from the Burton Centre and the county council has chosen not to use it for that purpose."

Mr Austin said the town council was not opposed to what St Nicholas Hospice Care plans to do with the centre.

He said: "We welcome their attempts to have a presence in the town. We simply believe there are other locations where they could do that in Haverhill without using a purpose-built community centre which would no longer be available for that purpose to the town."

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council said: "We have received the letter from Haverhill Town Council and will, of course, respond as soon as possible."

Life-savers seek young cadets

A FIRST aid charity is looking for would-be life-savers to join the cadet unit it is launching in Haverhill.

St John Ambulance is staging an open day at the unit's centre in Burton End on Saturday, March 16 so young people can find out more about being a cadet.

Cadets aged 10 to 17 can choose from more than 70 subjects ranging from first aid to photography to help them achieve their Grand Prior Award.

Trevor Bailey, the unit manager, said: "Being a cadet gives you life experiences that colleges, universities and employers all look for. Being part of St John Ambulance shows you have commitment and responsibility to your community and you will also learn vital life-saving skills too. You can also get real first aid experience and be the difference between a life lost and a life saved.

"We'd love to see lots of young people and their parents at the open day, so do come along and find out more."

The event is taking place between 10am and 2pm.

For more information about the cadet unit, call youth leader Sheenna Ellum on 07719 560395 on weekdays after 2pm. Visit www.sja.org.uk for details of the charity's youth work and how to get involved.

Launch for fostering team

THERE were smiles all round at the launch of an independent fostering agency.

Haverhill's mayor, Cllr Pat Hanlon, cut a ribbon at the event to declare Little Acorns Fostering in Great Wratting officially open.

Experienced fosterers turned out for the launch to chat to people thinking about taking the plunge while youngsters got stuck into painting competitions and other activities.

Cheryl Jillions, who co-founded Little Acorns with her husband, Michael, said: "It was really an open day for people to come and see what we were offering, what Little Acorns is all about and talk to approved foster carers." She said she wanted to thank everyone who came along on Saturday.

She said: "The turnout was phenomenal – about 100 people came. There were a lot of balloons and food and cake, it was just fantastic."

"I was quite overwhelmed by the amount of people who came."

Little Acorns foster carers, Mrs Jillions said, receive 24-hour support. She said: "We know that fostering isn't 9am to 5pm."

"It tends to be after 5 o'clock and at weekends. That's when it happens because the children are not at school. It's about being there to make sure those placements don't break down and children have stability in their lives." She said there are thousands of children coming into care – and there are just not the foster placements for them.

Mrs Jillions, who is qualified in social care and has been involved in the industry for 27 years, said they would like to hear from would-be fosterers – and they are just looking for normal families who are not shocked by things and are robust enough not to give up at the first hurdle.

She said: "All we want is loving families that are prepared to help and see a young person through to their adult years."

The agency is co-operatively owned, with its carers as shareholders, and it began running last month.

To find out more, call Little Acorns Fostering on (01440) 732010.

Big day: Little Acorns Fostering team set out their stall at an opening day.

Lifesavers' clothes stolen in burglary

THE ambulance service is appealing for the return of jackets and shirts used by volunteer lifesavers, which were stolen by thieves.

Five fluorescent jackets, worth about £35 each, and 10 navy polo shirts, each worth £10, intended for community First Responders, were taken by burglars from a garage in Haverhill.

The clothes are used by the volunteers who administer first aid at the scenes of emergencies before paramedics arrive.

A spokesman from the ambulance service said: "This is a disgraceful theft; not only breaking into someone's private property but stealing uniform which our incredibly hard-working volunteers pay for themselves for the role they carry out."

"The idea that someone who would carry out such an act might then be using the shirts and jackets to impersonate a volunteer lifesaver is appalling and we would urge anyone with information about this theft to contact the police."

Haverhill's mayor, Cllr Pat Hanlon, said: "I'm absolutely shocked because these people volunteer. The volunteers need these jackets for when they are out in emergencies saving people's lives."

It is thought the offenders broke into the garage in Victoria Avenue to see what they could find. They also took a Karcher vacuum cleaner, a Karcher pressure washer and a silver tool case containing hand tools.

The burglars forced their way into the garage between 6pm on Sunday, March 3 and 7.15am the next day.

Call Suffolk Police on 101 with the reference HH/13/523 with any information about the crime or where the stolen goods are now.

Council chief rules out railway link for town

A RAIL link for Haverhill would be the best solution to its transport problems, but it will never happen according to a top county official.

Deborah Cadman, chief executive of Suffolk County Council and former chief executive of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, addressed a packed meeting of representatives from local businesses and community organisations at the recent bestof Haverhill meeting.

She said that coming to Haverhill was like coming home and that she could see some fantastic changes that were happening in the town.

Transport links, specifically the A1307, continued to be an issue. Ms Cadman agreed the best solution would be a rail link between Cambridge and Haverhill but she did not think this would happen, because of cost.

While it was important to continue to lobby for the rail link, the focus had to be on alternatives such as funded bus routes or a guided bus route.

On the subject of pedestrianisation, she said that there was currently an 'impasse' and the council would do what the majority want.

What St Edmundsbury Borough Council

did on planning and the issue of the Gurteen factory would have an impact on any decision.

The council had a budget of £1 billion and more than half of this was allocated to schools.

Ms Cadman believed that they had gone to 'the bone' as far as cost cutting was concerned and although it was expected that a further £150 million would be saved, the big challenge was to protect front line services.

The council was not in a position to fund £25 million on making improvements to the A1307, but it was prepared to lobby and work with other partners.

The Castle Manor Partnership and Samuel Ward Academy Trust were praised by Ms Cadman, which she said were delivering top educational services in Haverhill.

However, she was astounded by the lack of aspiration from young people and concerned by the disproportionately high number of young people, one in five, not in employment, education or training in the town.

Elaine Carr, owner of the bestof Haverhill said: "Deborah is a very engaging speaker who doesn't pull any punches. People respect that no nonsense approach."

Raiders flee with frozen food

BURGLARS stole frozen food from a garage in Haverhill.

The offenders also took items including a pressure washer, a Silver Cross combination buggy and bags of fishing tackle from the building in Henry Close.

Police believe the offenders committed the crime between 5.30pm on Saturday and 8am the next day.

Call Pc Robert Burton at Haverhill Police Station on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111 if you saw anything suspicious.

Two bikes stolen from garage

TWO bikes, a Dyson vacuum cleaner and keys have been stolen from a Haverhill garage.

The green Muddyfox mountain bike, the red and white Muddyfox racing bike and the other items were pinched from Spartan Close.

Burglars committed the crime between 12.30am and 7.30am on Sunday.

Call Suffolk Police on 101 with the crime reference HH/13/522 with information about the crime or where the stolen items are now.

We're getting there: photos taken a few weeks ago of work on the new Garden Room at Chilford Hall, which is launching at the end of March.

Rising from the ashes

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CHILFORD Hall is preparing to host its first wedding in a new event space as the fire-ravaged venue looks to the future.

The Linton wedding and conference venue, which was devastated by an inferno started by arsonists last year, is set to launch the Chilford Hall Garden Rooms at the end of the month.

The semi-permanent marquee in the venue's grounds will host its first event – a wedding ceremony and reception – over the Easter weekend.

And Chilford Hall's vineyard, which was not affected by the blaze

Chilford Hall prepares for its first wedding in a new garden room following last year's fire that ruined wedding plans for many couples last year, opened for the new season on Saturday.

Glen Mejias, the business's director and general manager, said more than 25 couples had already arranged to tie the knot at Chilford Hall this year.

He said: 'The new Garden Rooms really are a fantastic addition and we are really pleased at the feedback we have already received from couples and event planners who have called us or visited the site.'

"We have already secured over 25 wedding bookings this year and will be hosting the Annual House and Garden Fair for the Asthma UK charity on May 14."

The Garden Rooms are made up of the linked Garden Reception, which can be used as a conference or drinks reception area, and the Garden Terrace, which can be used as a main event and dining area.

The structure, which can be used all year round, has a capacity for 250 people for canapé reception-type events and its built-in facilities include a bar, kitchen, toilets and cloakroom.

It has replaced the smaller marquee erected in Chilford Hall's grounds in the immediate aftermath of the fire where the venue continued to host events like parties, weddings and banquets.

Fiona Alper, whose husband launched Chilford Hall in 1965, has said it will take at least a year to redevelop the site.

Sacked employee Thomas Richardson and his friend Mark Hall, both of Pipers Close, Haverhill, were jailed for a total of nine years and four months in February for the arson on June 13 last year.

Aftermath: Glen Mejias, right, and operations manager Andy Kearsey stand amid the devastation following last summer's blaze.

Customers unite to offer boost to town's foodbank

A SUPERMARKET'S customers and staff have given more than 800kg of food to Haverhill Foodbank in just three months.

And staff from Waitrose in Saffron Walden popped over to the foodbank to see how it works.

Ann Merrigan, the foodbank manager, showed store manager Malcolm Domb and welcome desk partner Jack Trotti around the warehouse and they met some of the volunteers who weigh and sort the food ahead of its distribution. Ann said: "We were really pleased to welcome Malcolm and Jack to the foodbank and hope that it gives them a good idea of how it all operates. Sadly, there are many families who are struggling to make ends meet so to have this support is great. Waitrose have been amazing and we would just like to thank Malcolm the manager, Tracy and Mel who have welcomed us and allowed us to collect here and of course all the customers and staff who donate on a regular basis."

Malcolm said: "Waitrose Saffron Walden is delighted to act as a conduit between our customers and the foodbank who clearly do a marvellous job helping those who need its services." The foodbank is open at REACH Resource Centre in Haverhill between 2pm and 5pm Monday to Thursday and from 10am to 1pm Tuesdays and Fridays.

Snooker club will host closure party

A SNOOKER club in Haverhill is closing down and the site is set to be turned into housing.

Haverhill Snooker and Bowl will shut its doors for the last time at 10pm on Sunday and its owners of 17 years are inviting people to a closing down party on Saturday.

Hazel Pawley, who owns the club with business partner Keith Pawley, said they were "absolutely gutted".

She said: "We have tried so many things like offers and cheap membership and cheap bowling. We are probably about the cheapest place in England. It's just ridiculous. There's just not the support there."

She said they cannot continue with the level of trade they have got and things including the current economic climate and the cost of drinks in supermarkets have also prompted the closure.

Jamie Pawley, who has been the manager of the Chalkstone Way business for 12 years, said in a statement on its Facebook page: "At present we are considering offers for the whole site which means redevelopment from leisure use to residential use and so the existing club will not be sold as a going concern."

"We would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who have supported us over the years and wish them well in the future."

Swimmer sends out sporting message

A SWIMMING superstar wowed students at a Haverhill school.

Fran Williamson, who competed for Great Britain for ten years until 2011, created new games with students at Castle Manor Academy during her visit on Tuesday as part of the Sky Sports Living for Sport campaign.

The athlete, who suffers from athetoid cerebral palsy, also spoke to the year 11 BTEC sport students about her life and career.

Her accolades include 12 world championship medals and six Paralympic medals.

Duncan Ainge, Teacher of BTEC Sport, said: "This was a real inspiration for both the students and staff. It's brilliant for them to see someone that has achieved success at the very peak of their sport and is now able to inspire them for the future."

The Living for Sport project is meant to encourage young people to pursue their goals and help them believe they can achieve them.

Council staff poised for pay deal vote

UNION staff at two district councils will vote whether to accept a new pay package which could see 15 per cent of staff receive a wage cut.

Forest Heath District Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council share service provision across West Suffolk and bosses have decided to implement one staffing structure so staff doing the same job at each council will be paid the same.

The vote will follow a period of negotiation between Unison, the council's recognised union, and the chief executive to ensure a single set of terms across both councils.

Ian Gallin, joint chief executive of the councils, said: "We have already made large savings from our pay budgets over the past couple of years, including £870,000 a year from senior management.

"For these negotiations we had a fixed amount of pay available and our discussions were around how to allocate that within the new single staff structure."

Unison has seen the package and approved it so members will receive a ballot within the next few days.

A spokesperson for Unison's West Suffolk branch said: "Unison has been in regular negotiations for a number of months with the management regarding the pay line and terms and conditions for staff.

"Members will soon be asked to ballot on a package that ensures members who carry out the same job across both authorities are paid at the same level and with the same terms and conditions.

"The original proposal made to Unison has been considerably improved, particularly to get a better deal for the lower pay grades who may have been affected by any loss of their earnings."

If the package is approved an estimated 15 per cent of staff could see a reduction in pay from March 31, while 23 per cent could see an increase.

Cllr Dave Ray, St Edmundsbury cabinet member for Resources, said: "The staff at both councils are extremely hardworking, dedicated professionals and getting a single payline into place is an essential part of creating a single staff structure."

This agreement will apply to all staff, not just union members.

TV presenter in town to share some animal magic ENJOY a night out in Haverhill with a wildlife television presenter.

Chris Packham, of the BBC's Springwatch, Autumnwatch, Operation Iceberg and Secrets of our Living Planet, is coming to Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday, March 9.

The naturalist will share with guests tales and photographs from his adventures in the UK and around the world.

He will chat about the behaviour of creatures ranging from polar bears to peregrines, for example, and he will also speak about seeing species of birds begin to flourish again in Brazilian rainforests because of a scheme run by tissue brand Velvet with Amata, a Brazilian forestry company.

Chris said: "Velvet's work in Brazil has led to more than four million trees being planted – but the benefit is more than trees. As soon as you get a new population of birds arriving, then you can get the predators returning too, and in this way you start to reintroduce the whole natural world around them."

Chris Packham's Wild Night Out will kick off at 7.30pm and there will be time for questions at the end.

Charities set for funding windfall

A BUILDING society has handed more than £7,000 to a host of charities.

Saffron Building Society, which has a branch in Haverhill, has donated to five good causes the grand total of £7,200 – made up of a donation from its community fund and the fruits of staff fundraising activities last year.

Among the beneficiaries are Macmillan Cancer Support, which will use its share to provide nurses in Essex and East Hertfordshire, and Saffron Walden's Riding for the Disabled, which will put its funds towards the cost of livery for ponies which give disabled youngsters in the Uttlesford area therapeutic horse riding opportunities.

Jon Hall, CEO of Saffron Building Society, which serves the East of England, said: "The Saffron Community Fund has supported many good causes in recent years and we are immensely proud of its achievements.

"It is never easy to decide who should receive a donation, particularly this year when we were approached by many highly deserving causes."

History in focus

FIND out more about the lives of agricultural labourers at a meeting in Haverhill.

Genealogical expert and author Ian Waller will speak about the lives of these labourers and the records available on them on Thursday, March 14.

The talk is expected to help guide people researching their family trees on the resources that are out there.

The meeting of the Suffolk Family History Society's Haverhill Group will start at 7.30pm in the Old Independent Church Hall.

Newcomers are welcome.

Rallying call over town centre plans

RESIDENTS are being urged to press Suffolk County Council on how it will help make Haverhill fit for its growing community.

The debate over whether to pedestrianise the High Street will be high on the agenda of the Safer Neighbourhood Team meeting on Monday.

But Haverhill Town Council is calling on people to ensure the county council also responds on the matters of traffic and parking in the High Street and what the county's vision is for a sustainable town centre.

Will Austin, town clerk at Haverhill Town Council, said: "Let's not make it simply about closing the High Street to traffic or not closing it.

"Let's make sure the county council responds to the community on how it's going to help provide a sustainable town centre for them going forward."

He said the town centre had done well under difficult circumstances but a "large proportion" of Haverhill's population does not visit it at all and they want to attract these people in so Haverhill does not become what it is already called by some – a dormitory town.

He said: "Those of us who live, work and shop in Haverhill know there is much more to Haverhill than that.

"We need to provide more to cater for those people who don't currently use the town centre and the county council is one of the key partners in delivering that vision."

Mr Austin said they need the county council to "play its part" in expanding the town and what it offers.

He said: "The town centre was built for a population of 5,000, it cannot possibly serve the needs of 27,000 people which is the current population.

"With the population estimated to be expanding by a further 10,000 in the next 20 years, we need to see a rapid expansion in both the size of the offering of the town centre.

"We need the county council to play its part as the major local authority partner in the area in delivering that. Thus far, we have heard nothing of that ilk."

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council said: "Cllr Guy McGregor will be attending the meeting to listen to what residents and businesses have to say and discuss options for the future of the town."

The meeting starts at 7pm at Burton End School.

8% increase is utter rubbish

Sir, I wonder how many Haverhill residents were relieved to read about the freezing of council tax again this year and were not too concerned with the mention of reductions in the council tax benefit? Because the article stated that "working age claimants, those with second homes and owners of empty property" will have to pay around 8.5% more.

What utter rubbish. I have just had a letter stating the second adult rebate that I receive because I have two unemployed, grown-up children still living at home will now cease. I will now have to pay 25% more. This adds up to around £400 extra a year. I have two part-time jobs for which I am paid minimum wage. I also receive a widow's pension from my late husband's employer and this takes my income above the level the government believe I need to live on. I don't drink or smoke and my only vice are my animals, which help keep me sane, so I'm not quite sure where I can find this extra money. Maybe we can eat every other day and see how that fares. I have just looked on St Edmundsbury Borough Council's website and from the survey they conducted only 25% of respondents were in favour of making working age claimants pay more along with the removal of the second adult rebate.

It's nice to know that the council takes notice of the majority of the respondents' opinions. What was the point of wasting money on this survey when they take absolutely no notice of the majority of people's opinions? They had already decided what they were going to do anyway.

Did torture slow bin Laden hunt?

Sir, Zero Dark Thirty, shown recently in Haverhill is based on the hunt for Osama bin Laden and raises the issue of whether torture works. No one could argue that torture, prohibited by international convention, is morally acceptable. The rationale for its use is that it saves innocent lives. Leaving aside the question of correctly identifying prisoners (many Guantanamo Bay detainees are still incarcerated, despite having been cleared of any wrongdoing), is torture effective? Evidence shows that those tortured will say whatever they think their captors want them to say, just to make the pain stop. Memory is notoriously unreliable, even more so under stress, such as sleep deprivation or waterboarding. According to interrogators, CIA personnel and politicians, the use of torture actually slowed down the hunt for bin Laden.

The detainee on whom the film character was based was waterboarded 183 times without giving anything away. It was "analysis, insight and smart detective work over years which produced results". Another interrogator admitted: "I cannot even count the times detainees told me they were primarily motivated to do what they did because of hearing that we committed torture. We will never know how many lives might have been saved had we held fast to our values."

Quiz: A very successful quiz and chips evening was held at the Infant's School on February 22. This was organised by the schools PSA. More than 100 people attended and competed in teams of up to eight people. Fish and chips were served at half time and £800 was raised for various items and improvements in the Infant's school.

St Mary's Church: Due to the ever expanding Youth Ministry at St Marys' church, volunteers are required to help with the various activities. Wednesday Mums and Tots Group and Sunday Junior church in particular would welcome help. Nicola Collard and Barry Easton can supply details. ■ This year's Flower Festival will be held on June 21 to 23. Donations of jam, marmalade and pickles will be very welcome. The February meeting was led by members of the Suffolk Family History group shared gems from their own family tree research. Using our new laptop and borrowing a digital projector, we were able to display records, newspaper reports and photos onto the big screen, which enabled all to see the items much more easily than on small pieces of paper, one at a time. We heard about 'Arsenic Sally' the last woman to be hanged in Chelmsford jail for murders which brought about the law that anyone wanting to buy arsenic had to sign for it and state the purpose it was to be used for.

Then there was the poor widow who took over the public house after her husband's early death from ulcerated bowels, helped by kind friends to keep going for her children's sake, but who made the mistake of giving a man who'd worked for her a pint of beer outside licensing hours. This was deemed to be payment for his work and she was fined. Others had spent years trying to tie people into their family tree and make connections between the names, which is not easy when people had married several times in a few years after the death of their spouse.

Then there was the photograph of an unassuming man who it turned out had been a Japanese prisoner of war, but didn't talk about it until one someone asked him. Others had linked up through various websites with distant relatives who'd shared previously unknown details and photos. And we were very envious of those who had wonderful collections of ancient family photographs – even if they didn't know who the people were.

Up in the air: the bike riders show off their style at the O2 Arena.

Daring young bikers set new world record

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DAREDEVIL motorcyclist helped his team back-flip their way into the record books.

The 18 dirt bike riders, including Chris Birch, 28, from Haverhill, set a new world record for the most motorbikes back-flipping in the air simultaneously during a stunt show at London's O2 Arena.

The Nitro Circus team performed the stunts with just inches between them, jumping a 75ft (23m) gap and soaring 40ft (12m) in the air – the equivalent of three London buses.

Officials from Guinness World Records confirmed 16 of the bikers were airborne simultaneously, which meant a new record had been set.

Chris, of Dovehouse Road, Haverhill, was a pupil at Castle Manor School and started riding motorbikes at Wild Tracks near Newmarket before taking the sport up professionally.

He now travels the world doing hair-raising stunts.

Proud dad John, 54, said: "We have seen him perform a few times and it always makes the hair on the back of my neck stand up. I have asked him what if the worst happens and he always says 'At least I was happy, dad.'"

Chris said: "It is dangerous. We can literally high-five each other in mid-air as we turn. I work on the policy 'no news is good news'. We did well breaking the record but I think we can do better next time.

"We do it because we love it and have so much fun. As long as that lasts I'll continue to do stuff like this.

"You do get nervous, it's natural. You try not to think negatively because if you do that the chances are something will go wrong. Thoughts like that do wander into your head, you've just got to think positively."

The record bid was streamed to cinemas nationwide, followed by a screening of Nitro Circus: The Movie 3D.

New police chief takes the oath

SUFFOLK'S new Chief Constable has been officially sworn in.

Douglas Paxton took his oath yesterday at Ipswich Magistrates Court after taking up the top post on Monday.

As Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore looked on, Mr Paxton said: "I sincerely declare and affirm that I will well and truly serve the Queen in the office of constable, with fairness, integrity, diligence and impartiality, upholding fundamental human rights and according equal respect to all people."

He added: "I will, to the best of my power, cause the peace to be kept and preserved and prevent all offences against people and property, and that while I continue to hold said office I will to the best of my skill and knowledge discharge all the duties thereof faithfully according to law."

Mr Paxton started his career in the force in Suffolk in 1989, where he served for 12 years.

He took up his post as Chief Constable after holding the position of Deputy Chief Constable in Staffordshire.

IF you are all 'zumba'd' out the latest fitness craze of Bokwa has just arrived at Feelgood Fitness gym.

Andy Dore and business partner Lyndsey Stavrianos have run the gym in Helions Bumpstead Road for the past five years.

They have 2,500 members and have seen the usual rush of new clients appearing in January, to work off their Christmas excess. Many of them have disappeared by February, but as the weather starts to improve, more newcomers will start trying to tone up for the summer.

Zumba classes are still part of the range of activities on offer, but new Bokwa classes are already proving popular. Described as the 'new zumba' the classes involve those taking part drawing out letters and numbers with their feet to music. It is described as "an energizing and addictive cardio workout" and a single work-out can burn up to 750 calories.

Andy said: "It is very simple and easy to pick up and on a par with zumba as a workout.

People like to try something different and I think we are the only gym in this area to offer it."

Classes are held on Monday at 9.30am and Wednesday at 7.30pm.

Andy has not looked back since making a career switch to running the gym, after working for more than 20 years in the building trade. He said: "I started coming to the gym and saw a job advertised. I just thought it was my chance to get out of the building game. You don't get dirty doing this and I have not looked back."

The gym also offers personal training and nutrition plans, has a

Peter plans close shave for charity

NEWSAGENT Peter Upton is really getting into character for his latest dramatic role and plans to have his hair and beard shaved off for charity.

Ketton Players will be performing Calendar Girls at Kedington Community Centre on March 22, 23 and 24 – and Peter will be playing the part of John Clarke, who inspired the real life WI Calendar Girls, to raise funds for their local hospital.

Peter, who boasts a fairly full head of hair and an impressive beard, is really entering into the spirit of the play by shedding both on Red Nose Day.

First he will dye his hair red, and then

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

on Friday, March 15 at 3pm, at his shop, Kedington Newsagents, he will have them shaved off.

Any sponsorship or donations received will be donated to Comic Relief.

The stage play, by Tim Firth, is based on the film of the same name by Juliette Towhidi and Tim Firth, but is quite different to the film in many ways.

The Calendar Girls are played by Sue Hards, Caroline Royston, Sue Wells, Sandra Loader, Celia Bramwell and Sue Brown, supported by eight other cast members.

The shave will be in the capable hands of Salon 56 of Kedington, who are doing a Comic Relief charity event on Saturday, March 9 from 1-5pm. For details ring (01440) 712275 or 707032 to sponsor Peter.

Tickets for Calendar Girls cost £6.50 and are available from Kedington Butchers, Nisa Stores Kedington, or by ringing (01440) 713137.

Performances on the Friday and Saturday start at 7.30pm and on the Sunday at 4pm. Tickets are already selling fast, so it is advisable to obtain tickets early.

A percentage of the licence fee for the play is donated to Leukaemia and Lymphoma research.

How I took the hurt out of

All smiles: Jane with Ruby, 4, and Jess, 2.

Picture: Warren Gunn 895348

LIKE most mothers-to-be, Jane Wallington had been drip-fed tales of painful births from friends and family who had already experienced labour first-hand. So, when she fell pregnant with her first daughter, Ruby, she was over the moon – but admits there was an element of fear from day one.

"You can't avoid people's stories, can you?" laughs the 28-year-old. "Every woman who's been through it is willing to share!"

Ruby was born in 2008 at The Rosie. "It wasn't the longest labour – it was about eight hours – but the pain was just unbearable," remembers Jane. "There was such an element of fear and I was in so much pain that I couldn't move."

Though Ruby was born safe and well, when mother and daughter returned to the family's Bassingbourn home, instead of feeling elated, Jane didn't leave the house for the next two weeks, was in constant pain and felt exhausted. "It was really tough. I didn't hold her for an hour after she was born due to the pain and that made me feel terrible."

"I didn't know if I could face going through labour again and for the first six months there was no way I was going to have a second child."

Once fully recovered from labour, Jane quickly got to grips with being a new mum and, just 10 months after

Jane Wallington had her baby with 'no drugs and no pain' – and she believes other women can too, as she tells Louise Martin

Ruby was born, was delighted to find out she was pregnant with her second child, Jessica, now 2. "When I fell pregnant with Jess I knew from the outset that I wanted a different labour. I was thinking about an elective caesarean, which is really frightening, but then I was actually advised by a midwife to think about a hypnobirth."

Using specific self-hypnosis, relaxation and unique breathing techniques, hypnobirthing aims to enable women to "take control" of their labour and "block out pain". "I did know about hypnobirthing when I was pregnant with Ruby – and I wasn't sceptical to it – but we just decided to follow the normal course and see how we went," says Jane.

During her second pregnancy, Jane researched hypnobirthing antenatal classes and came across The Mongan Method. The original hypnobirthing method, it is based on the principles of two famous English doctors, Dr Jonathon Dye and Dr Grantly Dick-Reid – whose studies led to the emergence of the NCT (National Childbirth Trust).

"I found a hypnobirthing practitioner in Royston and from the first class I knew it was going to be different," smiles Jane.

Jane and Andy attended classes once a week for four weeks. "It really felt like we were learning so much as we looked at the history of birthing, why most women have painful births, what the body can do and also learnt the very special breathing techniques," she explains. "It was very different from the first time around, which was very focused on pain relief."

In June 2010, just four days after the classes finished, Jane went into labour. "I was three days overdue and was in Asda with Ruby doing a full food shop at the time," she remembers. "I was able to focus and relax and the fact that I was just carrying on doing my usual stuff is nothing like with my first birth – the hypnobirthing allowed me to think birthing does not hurt and it's important to carry on as normal."

When Jane returned home she continued experiencing contractions but was able to use the breathing techniques she had learnt to cope with the pain.

By midnight Jane felt she was close to giving birth and after calling ahead to The Rosie, arrived there just after 1am. "They knew I was a hypnobirthing mum and they had opened up the MLB (Midwifery Led Birthing) unit for me so I could use the pool," she says. After a very short labour, Jessica was born at half past 1, following no pushing and, says Jane, no pain or interventions, which specialists had said she would most likely need. "I did feel the urge but I never pushed at any point," she says. "It was pain free, and I know that's hard to believe, but all hypnobirth mums feel is pressure, and we can handle pressure. As soon as Jess was born I wanted to do it all over again, it was amazing. I always said I wanted two children but because of the hypnobirth I would like to have more."

Just one hour after Jess was born, Jane and Andy were taking their second daughter home, and this time it was a totally different experience.

"I had so much more energy than after Ruby," remembers Jane. "I don't know if I had postnatal depression then but I felt extremely low, but with Jess I was just my normal self, I was fine. I love them both equally, obviously, and there's a bond between all of us, but the bond with Jess is really different."

The proud mum has been so inspired by her hypnobirthing experience she decided to become a teacher of the antenatal classes. Since qualifying in December last year, Jane has set up Breeze Birthing and has already helped two mums enjoy hypnobirths following private classes.

"I get really envious of pregnant women because of the experience they're going to go through," smiles Jane. "I've got the passion to do this because I've experienced both types of labour."

As well as her new career, Jane works part-time in sales and volunteers on the maternity ward at the Lister Hospital in Stevenage. "I love being with the mums and their babies," she beams. "I'm there when they're in early labour and afterwards."

"I love supporting them and it makes me feel so good to know that I'm helping them - I always feel so bad when I leave. I don't see very many hypnobirth mums unfortunately, but things are changing."

The statistics are surely appealing to pregnant women. According to Marie Mongan, the founder and creator of The Mongan Method of hypnobirthing, a staggering 95 per cent of women who use the self-hypnosis method go on to have successful hypnobirths, but Jane explains it only works if you practise the techniques and trust in your body.

"With hypnobirthing you have to want to have a perfect birth for it to work. You have to want to reach these deep levels of relaxation and once you do your body will take over and do what it's supposed to do."

Although the mum is clearly an avid supporter, she is very aware of the army of sceptics. "I've got friends who do doubt it and say there's no such thing as labour without pain, that it's just an accompaniment of labour, and you have to deal with it, go through it. Not true. If that's the case then how come I, and thousands of other women worldwide, have had these births?"

"Hypnobirthing isn't a new concept, we've been birthing this way for centuries, our bodies are designed to do it and it's completely empowering."

Charity searches for new helpers

A CHARITY which works with children and families affected by imprisonment is on the lookout for new volunteers.

Ormiston Children & Families Trust works in HMP Highpoint North and South, at Stradishall, near Haverhill, supporting children and young people with a relative in prison.

Ormiston is the leading children's charity in East Anglia and runs the play area and special children's visits at the two prisons.

The charity also offers family liaison services and runs a Stories With Dad scheme, where fathers can read and record a story on to DVD to send home to their children.

Sixty-year-old Sheena Parkin has been volunteering for Ormiston at HMP Highpoint for more than 10 years and says the experience is incredibly rewarding.

She said: "The most satisfying thing I get out of volunteering at Highpoint is seeing a child being able to draw a picture for their daddy and handing it to him, knowing that he will be able to take it to his room and keep it. I think that is so special for the children and the family.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"And also seeing the letters and cards that they write – 'I love you daddy', 'I miss you', 'I can't wait for you to come home' – it's worth more than any payment in the world.

"I volunteer at the prison about twice a month, helping out with both the children's visits and the play area.

"When you talk to people about volunteering they think you have to commit to two or three days a week, but Ormiston are very flexible and work around you."

Anne Falkingham, Ormiston's Volunteer Coordinator at HMP Highpoint, said volunteers are vital to the charity.

She said: "Volunteers are so important and a lot of services and organisations couldn't survive without their support.

"We're looking for people to help run our play area and children's visits, which will involve playing with the children and talking to the parents, answering any questions they might have. The play area is used during normal domestic visits, which take place Friday and Saturday afternoons, Sunday mornings and afternoons and Monday afternoons.

"And our children's visits take place twice a month on a Tuesday. We're also looking at starting up Family Days which will be once a month.

"To volunteer in the play area or on the children's visits you have to be over 18 and we're looking for people who are open minded, reliable and enthusiastic.

"There are training opportunities available, and if you're over 21 there's the prospect of doing some family liaison and one-to-one work.

"We're not looking for any specific experience or qualifications, but it would be a bonus if you've had experience of being around children."

If you are interested in volunteering at HMP Highpoint, contact Anne Falkingham on (01440) 743670, 07825 502525 or email anne.falkingham@ormiston.org.

Hospice offers helping hand

A HOSPICE is providing a free education programme to help care homes to support patients nearing the end of their lives.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is running Hospice Partnerships training sessions tailored to the individual requirements of care homes. The programme includes debriefs, educational sessions, how to best use recognised end-of-life tools, practice-based learning, debriefs and support visits.

The training aims to boost staff confidence when delivering end-of-life care enhance staff skills and knowledge about palliative care promote patient choice about end of life care and develop partnerships with the community.

Hospice Partnerships also uses the skills, knowledge and experience of the multi-disciplinary Hospice team – including the rehabilitation team and complementary therapist – for practical teaching sessions.

West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group has pledged £60,000 to fund the initiative until November 2013.

Sally Coldrey, senior registered nurse leading Hospice Partnerships, said: "This programme fits so well with what St Nicholas Hospice Care is doing – it is about working with the community, promoting patient choice and also fitting in with national standards of end-of-life care. "We at the Hospice value the chance to pass on our knowledge and experience to others. Importantly, the training should allow patients a choice to remain in the familiar surroundings of their care home rather than having to go into hospital because of a lack of skilled carers to take care of their end of life needs.

"We run up to 10 training sessions at each care home, with the educational programme tailored to the requirements of each home."

MP's support for medals honour

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN MP has welcomed the Government's announcement that Second World War heroes who served on the Arctic convoys and in Bomber Command will receive new medals.

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, noted that up to a quarter of a million veterans and families could be eligible for the awards, including many of his constituents.

Families of those who had died will also be able to apply for the new awards in recognition of their loved ones' bravery – and Mr Hancock has urged them to do so.

Production of the new Arctic Star medal and Bomber Command clasp will start this week. Living veterans and widows will be the first in line to receive the new awards from this month.

Winston Churchill famously singled the Arctic convoys out as the "most dangerous run of the war" and the men of Bomber Command faced extremely high casualty rates. Out of 125,000 who served, 55,000 died.

Backing: MP Matthew Hancock and, left, the distinctive profile of a Lancaster, mainstay of Bomber Command.

Mr Hancock said: This announcement recognises the enormous bravery displayed by those who fought for our freedom in the Second World War.

"This is especially true in West Suffolk where Bomber Command flew sorties from RAF Mildenhall, RAF Lakenheath and other airfields throughout the county.

"Thousands of young men flew out of these bases their average age was only 22.

"Nearly half would never see

Suffolk again and we owe them a debt we can never repay.

"I would encourage all eligible veterans and next of kin in West Suffolk to apply for these awards."

Minister of State for Defence Personnel, Welfare and Veterans Mark Francois said: "All those who served our country in Bomber Command and on the Arctic convoys deserve nothing but the utmost respect and admiration from us."

Liza's back in murder mystery

ARTS Theatre favourite Liza Goddard returns to Cambridge this week to head the all-star cast of Go Back For Murder – a typically devilish mystery from the undisputed queen of crime, Agatha Christie.

Adapted by Christie in 1960 from her novel Five Little Pigs, Go Back For Murder removes the book's protagonist, legendary detective Poirot Hercule Poirot – who by then the author had decided was a “detestable, bombastic, tiresome, ego-centric little creep” (don't tell David Suchet!). It is one of over a dozen plays written by Christie, who has sold more than two billion books – a record bettered only by the Bible and Shakespeare.

The story begins when Carla Le Marchant learns a disturbing family secret: her mother, Caroline Crale, died in prison after being convicted for poisoning her father. Caroline leaves a letter professing her innocence and Carla is determined to clear her mother's name.

Enlisting the help of Justin Fogg, the son of her mother's defence lawyer, Carla searches out all the players from her tragic history and brings them back to the scene of the crime to uncover the truth.

Star of such TV classics as The Brothers, Bergerac and ITV's long-running game show Give Us A Clue, Goddard stars as Miss Williams, while child actress-turned-screen star and Vogue cover model Sophie Ward (Land Girls, Jane Eyre) plays Carla Crale.

They're joined by Lysette Anthony (star of 80s sitcom Three Up, Two Down and twice Michael Caine's leading lady in Without A Clue and Jack the Ripper), Robert Duncan (Casualty, Drop the Dead Donkey), former Peak Practice star Gary Mavers and Ben Nealon.

■ Go Back For Murder, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm (Thurs/Sat mats 2.30pm). Tickets £15-27. Contact (01223) 503 333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

What's not to love...?

GARETH Gates. Chico. Andy Abraham (aka the singing binman). And Shane Richie Junior. Seriously, what's not to love about a line-up like that? (It's a rhetorical question – don't write in.)

The force that has brought these entertainment titans together under one roof (along with The Osmonds – Jimmy, Jay and Merrill – and ex-EastEnders Louisa Lytton) is Boogie Nights: The 70s Musical.

Promising "all the hits and an all-star cast of 14 singers, dancers and live musicians", the show is a feelgood nostalgia-fest set in a provincial British town at the height of the disco era, in the decade that fashion forgot.

Debs and Roddy are lovers. Roddy has a dream to be a rock star. They have been together for five years, as have their best friends Terry and Trish. There is a fancy dress dance contest at their local disco, Boogie Nights, and Roddy promises he will go with Debs – who reveals to Trish that she is pregnant with Roddy's baby.

Roddy's Elvis-mad dad, Eamon, tells Roddy to treat Debs better and to get a job. But Roddy has his head too far up in the clouds...

Originally produced in 1993, the show was co-created by Shane Richie, whose eldest son Shane Jr (it's just like Dallas!) is now in the cast.

The big film

OZ THE GREAT AND POWERFUL certificate PG, 2h10m

MADE in 1939 for the staggering sum of $3.7m dollars, The Wizard Of Oz failed to cast a spell over audiences on its initial release. But more than 70 years later, Victor Fleming's fantastical yarn is one of the most beloved family films in the cinematic pantheon and a staple of the Christmas television schedules. In 1985 Disney revived the iconic character of Dorothy Gale in Return To Oz, based on two novels by Frank L Baum. But like its predecessor, the unofficial sequel failed to curry favour with audiences. Now director Sam Raimi, who propelled the Spider-Man trilogy to dizzy heights, has the unenviable task of helming this lavish prequel which chronicles the arrival of the eponymous wizard in Oz. In an affectionate nod to the 1939 film, Oz The Great And Powerful opens in black and white and flushes the screen with vibrant colour once the story moves to the magical realm of flying monkeys and munchkins. Small-time circus magician Oscar Diggs (James Franco) is booted off stage in 1905 Kansas and finds himself in hot water with the resident strongman. Bidding a hasty farewell to his sweetheart Annie (Michelle Williams), who is poised to marry another man, Oscar escapes in a hot air balloon.

The canopy is sucked into an approaching tornado and Oscar crash-lands in a wondrous realm where ancient prophecy decrees that a wizard will fall from the sky and reign benevolently over Oz. Beautiful witch Theodora (Mila Kunis) accompanies Oscar to the Emerald City, where her sister Evanora (Rachel Weisz) and the other denizens live in fear of the wicked witch Glinda (Michelle Williams). Oz The Great And Powerful is a visual treat – especially in eye-popping 3D – and it's evident that most of the $200m dollar budget has been lavished on digital effects. The film follows the template of the recent re-imagining of Alice In Wonderland, bombarding our retinas with outlandish set pieces. Some of the visual trickery isn't as slick as it should be and the copious special effects come at the expense of plot and characterisation. Mitchell Kapner and David Lindsay-Abaire's script boasts a few snappy one-liners but it's perilously flimsy and the 130-minute running time is unwieldy. Warmth and charm have almost been sucked dry from this incarnation of Oz and performances are muted, especially Franco, who bumbles through his scenes as if he is making up dialogue on the spot. Margaret Hamilton was far more terrifying as the green-hued Wicked Witch back in 1939 than anything Raimi conjures from his cast here.

Plenty of choice for mums

by Hannah Stephenson

FROM seed collections to fashion-conscious gloves for the green-fingered and innovative tool ranges, no gardening mother should be without a gift on Mothering Sunday.

There's a plethora of choice, whatever your budget, from small seed collections and mug toppers for under a fiver to more extravagant floral fragrances and practical tools which are easy for mum to manage as well as dad.

Here's just a few of the gifts on offer:

£5 or under

If your mother's cuppa always goes cold when she's working in the garden, treat her to a MugTopper, a clever accessory that creates an airtight seal on the top of a mug or glass, preserving the heat inside a warm drink and ensuring a cold drink stays cool, even in the sun. It also stops insects getting inside a drink. Four designs feature a rose, a bow, a mouse and a cat on top of each (£4.99 for a set of four, from www.apollohousewares.com).

WELCOME: Birdies Wall Pocket.

Wild flowers have become much more popular in recent years and if your mother has an area of garden which she'd like to transform into a mini meadow, there are endless possibilities with collections of flower seed mixes from meadowwinmygarden.co.uk. This innovative range contains seed mixes, using annual and annual/perennial seed combinations chosen for their beauty, low maintenance and cost effectiveness of their results. There is a seed mix suitable for various specific soils and aspects, open spaces, under trees, nooks and crannies, as well as tall species ideal for bouquets. For full details of the ranges, which start at £2.99, visit www.meadowwinmygarden.co.uk.

£10 or under

If you want to say it with roses, B&Q

is launching a limited edition Amazing Mum rose on March 1 to raise funds for the charity founded by Prince Harry, Sentebale. The pink rose launches as part of activity to support the B&Q Sentebale Forget-me-not Garden which will be unveiled at this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show (£7.98, available in 50 stores. For details, go to www.diy.com). A donation of 20% of the purchase price will go to Sentebale.

Birds, bees and butterflies are featured in lifestyle artist Katie Alice's vintage-inspired tableware and this floral-patterned porcelain tankard mug from her English Garden collection may provide inspiration for the gardener (£6, from www.english-table.com and selected garden centres).

If you miss phone calls or text messages when you're tending the garden, Briers' new Pruner Pouch offers a solution, comprising secateurs and a pouch complete with a mobile phone pocket. Fitted with a belt clip, the Pruner Pouch enables you to stay contactable while you're out gardening (£10.99, www.briersltd.co.uk).

Mothers who save their own seeds would welcome a pretty, eco-friendly gift of a set of five stylish recycled cardboard seed saver tubs from the new Eco range from Burgon & Ball (£6.95, www.burgonandball.com).

Orchids are still a hugely popular gift idea and if your mother has three, you could buy her the ideal container to show them off. Ebertsankey has just launched the Luzern 3, a contemporary single pot made of injection moulded plastic, which houses three separate plants and is available in fuchsia, white and granite (£8.99 from good garden centres and DIY stores. For more information, visit www.ebertsankey.com).

£20 or under

Bird lovers can welcome visitors to their home with an unusual ornamental Birdies Wall Pocket, which can be filled with different flowers and foliage with each season. Designed in California, it's made of rustic metal with three charming blue birds, which are often referred to as Blue Birds of Happiness, perched on the edge of the pocket (£18.95, www.home2garden.co.uk).

A gardener can never have too many gloves, but Ethel gloves are designed to specifically fit the contours of a woman's hands – so they're comfortable and pretty at the same time. The Jubilee, a creamy fleur-de-lis pattern against a royal blue background, is a timeless classic, made from two-way stretch Spandex with reinforced fingertips and is machine-washable (£13.50, www.ethelgloves.co.uk and Amazon).

Gardening shoes don't have to be boring any more thanks to a new range of designs from Back Door Shoes, including a pretty red and cream roses print. These shoes have no air holes in them so don't let water through but are washable and ideal for just popping out on to the patio or up the garden without getting your feet wet (£20, www.backdoorshoes.co.uk).

£30 and under

Keen vegetable gardeners who are going away later this year may appreciate the new Growbag Waterer from Hozelock, which keeps plants watered for up to 14 days. By simply placing a growbag on top of the waterer, the integral capillary matting transfers the required amount of water from the reservoir to the compost (£24.99, available from leading garden and DIY stores).

If your mother loves to keep the flowers she has grown, this new flower press from Nether Wallop will preserve many of the pretty blooms as keepsakes. The kit comes with acid-free blotting paper, cardboard separators and full instructions (£29.95, www.netherwalloptrading.com).

Over £30

To really pamper your mother, look no further than the Alison Claire Natural Beauty range, all with long-lasting natural scents. Featuring an anti-ageing cream containing natural moisturisers, orange and patchouli hand cream, peppermint and witch hazel foot cream, rose geranium body lotion and mango body butter, it is beautifully presented in a pink and white gift box lined with pink tissue paper (£55, www.alisonclairenaturalbeauty.com).

Gardening mums often end up doing the spade work but there is help at hand for the more labour-intensive jobs such as hedge-trimming. Check out the new Bosch AHS 45-15, a lithium-ion battery-operated gem of a machine, which is light, easy to use and doesn't have any of those awkward wires which always seem to get in the way (£89.99, B&Q, information at www.bosch-garden.co.uk).

Super-sized 500 on way

Fiat expands success story

THE widely acclaimed Fiat 500 family has expanded dramatically with the launch of the all-new 500L.

Designed for customers who want a car that combines the 500's unique personality, style and image with added practicality, capability and size, the five-door 500L goes on sale later this month.

The Fiat 500L mixes user-friendly technology with eco-friendliness and plenty of space, all wrapped up in a characterful package. This combination of Italian style together with Fiat's unique ability to conceive and design cars that are innovative in substance and form, makes it much more than just a typical mini MPV.

By expanding on its concept of 'space efficiency',

Fiat has developed the new 500L, combining practicality and internal flexibility to produce a distinctive and versatile vehicle, while incorporating the spirit and attitude of the 500.

The 'cab forward' design frees up passenger space inside. It means the Fiat 500L can easily accommodate five passengers with five suitcases. The 500L also has a spacious feel thanks to extensive glazing. This includes windscreen pillars that have been divided and tapered to improve visibility and increase the car's strength in case of a collision. A knock-on effect is that the Fiat 500L has already been made a five-star car crash safety by Euro NCAP.

The Fiat 500L has three trim levels, Pop Star, Easy and Lounge, plus four engine options: 1.4-litre Fire petrol and the 875cc TwinAir Turbo, plus the 1.3 (with manual and automatic transmissions) and 1.6-litre MultiJet 2 turbo diesels.

The 500L has been priced to offer exceptional value for money and to offer a superior standard of equipment compared to the main competitors. The Pop Star and Easy models both cost £14,990 but feature different equipment to target different customer profiles. The top of the range Lounge trim costs only £1400 more but has £2000 worth of extra equipment. Moving from the 95hp 1.4-litre petrol to either the 105hp TwinAir Turbo or the 85hp 1.3 MultiJet costs £1500. To go up to the 105hp 1.6 MultiJet is £1000. The MTA dualogic transmission on the 1.3 MultiJet is £900 more than the regular manual gearbox.

Sensing danger: Volvo's sensor system tracks bikes for the driver.

The car that slams on brakes for bikes

Clever: New Volvo technology.

IS this the motoring invention Cambridge has been waiting for?

Car giant Volvo has claimed to have come up with technology that automatically puts the brakes on when a vehicle and bicycle get too close for comfort.

Launching the technology at the Geneva Motor Show, the company said its cars will be able to detect and automatically brake when bikes "swerve out in front of the car".

Doug Speck, senior vice marketing president at Volvo Car Group, said advanced on-board software, including more rapid vision processing, has made it "possible to extend the present detection and auto brake technology to cover certain cyclist situations".

He added: "Our solutions for avoiding collisions with unprotected road users are unique in the industry.

"By covering more and more objects and situations, we reinforce our world-leading position within automotive safety. We keep moving towards our long-term vision to design cars that do not crash."

Cameras and sensors scan the area ahead looking out for bicycle movements, deploying a warning and "full braking power" if an accident is about to happen - although it is unclear what happens to other road users travelling behind.

The technology will be available from May.

Turbo: The new Golf GTI. The newest incarnation of the legendary hatchback will go on sale in the summer.

Volkswagen to show off classic Golf GTIs

VOLKSWAGEN is introducing the latest version of the Golf GTI at the Geneva International Motor Show. For the first time, the legendary compact sports car is available from the factory with two power levels: the standard 220 PS GTI and the GTI Performance with 230 PS, larger brake discs and a front limited-slip differential (VAQ).

The new GTI is powered by a turbocharged direct-injection petrol engine (TSI) with 162 kW/220PS. In the GTI Performance version, the engine's maximum power is boosted to 169kW/230PS.

Both GTI models develop a maximum torque of 350Nm. The standard GTI accelerates to 62mph in 6.5 seconds and reaches a top speed of 152mph. The GTI Performance has a top speed of 155mph and needs just 6.4 seconds for the sprint to 62mph.

Both versions are equipped with a Stop/Start system and fulfil the EU-6 emissions standard that takes effect in 2014. With a six-speed manual gearbox, they attain the same low fuel consumption value of 47.0mpg (CO2: 139g/km).

Vindis Volkswagen starts taking orders for the new GTI on March 26.

Turbo: The new Golf GTI. The newest incarnation of the legendary hatchback will go on sale in the summer.

Stearn goals are fine for Thurlow

Thurlow 2 Hardwick Harriers 0

CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, DIVISION 16B

A SOLID defensive display set up a fine Thurlow victory.

Luke Stearn gave them the lead midway through the first half, slotting home from Ryan Harrow's pass.

Kyle Easton almost doubled the lead with a header before the interval and a great save from Aaron Smith maintained the advantage going in to the break.

Thurlow looked comfortable for most of the second half as the back four coped with everything coming their way.

The game beyond the visitors when the well-timed run of man of the match Stearn ended with him coolly lifting the ball over the keeper for his eighth league goal of the season.

West Wrating 3 Burwell Tigers 3

CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, DIVISION 13A

MAN of the match Ronnie Ledwith opened the scoring with a fine individual goal for Wrating in the opening minutes.

Wrating soon surrendered the advantage within a few minutes when a break through the middle caught out their defence.

Aiden Comer scored Wrating's second with a fine shot over the keeper, but they again gifted an equaliser to allow Tigers to go into half time on equal terms.

The second half was hotly contested and, as each side went for the winner. Wrating got an apparent breakthrough when Chinomso Nkem-Peul slotted past the keeper.

However, Tigers soon levelled as a through ball was bravely parried by keeper Charlie Mitchison only for an attacker to slot home the rebound.

Elsenham 0 West Wrating 6

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, DIVISION 11B

WEST Wrating enjoyed plenty of possession in first half after opening the scoring with an early goal from Finley Plant.

A well-worked goal from Charlie Hellen, who was set up by Plant, doubled the lead and Cameron Reid came off the bench to make it 3-0.

Josh Lee's strike made it 4-0 just before half time and Wrating went on to control the second half with further goals from Lee and Plant.

Thurlow White 2 Aztecs White 13

CAMBS MINI LEAGUE, DIVISION 9D

AZTECS returned to league action after a month with a resounding win at Thurlow that saw them pass the 100-goal mark in just their 11th game.

After a slow start Jordan Chipps gave Aztecs the lead and Lloyd Blackburn made it 2-0 from a penalty after his header had been handled.

Freddie Hounscome notched the third before providing the free kick from which Chipps headed the fourth.

Thurlow pulled a goal back only for Aztecs to reply with four goals in as many minutes through Bart Purser, Luke Murray Benjamin Albone and Chipps' hat-trick strike. Albone got the ninth and Blackburn made it 10-1 before half time.

Aztecs eased off in the second half and it took another 10 minutes before Chipps bundled home their 11th.

Thurlow pulled another back before Oliver Scroggie got Aztecs' 100th goal of the season and then completed the scoring at 13-2.

» Football: Round-up of the latest news from the New Croft KIERON Hammatt is confident his Haverhill Rovers side can beat anybody going into their game with Gorleston in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division on Saturday, 3pm.

The interim manager was pleased with the display as they went down 1-0 at leaders Dereham and he believes his men will be ready for another big test.

"We go into the Gorleston game on the back of two positive performances," said Hammatt.

"They've got to make the long journey to us and they'll be under pressure to beat us.

"With the performances we've been putting in, I challenge anyone to take us on at the moment."

Striker Dan Cornwell will be suspended for the match having picked up 10 yellow cards, and he faces a lengthier ban after being sent off against Dereham.

"We've played two of the best sides, on paper, in the division and looked very strong," said Hammatt.

"We'd got a point at Mildenhall, and we didn't start as well as we did in that game, but we grew into it, played some good football and made their keeper work a few times in the first half.

"They hit us hard for the first 10 minutes of the second half, but we looked solid, looked compact and passed the ball well.

"We didn't look like we'd

Rovers a match for anybody: Hammatt cause them problem after problem, but it looked like we'd get a chance as we played Marcus Hunt up front with Dan Cornwell and that worked well. We were disappointed with their goal and then Dan got sent off for a coming together."

Haverhill Rovers are also scheduled to be in league action again on Wednesday when they travel to Godmanchester Rovers, (kick-off 7.45pm).

HSA battle out a goalless stalemate

KENT BLAXHILL, ESSEX & SUFFOLK BORDER LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

A DRAW was the deserved outcome of a hard-fought and competitive match on Saturday in which neither side managed a noteworthy shot on target.

Bergholt had the opening chance of the match when the dangerous North beat Liam Cutts to a ball over the top, but the forward's lob drifted wide of the far post.

HSA responded, and, from a move down the right, Callum Harrison pulled the ball back to Ryan Weaver who shot over from eight yards. HSA had the majority of the ball for the remainder of the half but could not make any clear chances, while Bergholt looked dangerous from set-pieces.

The second period saw HSA again have a lot of possession, however it took the introduction of Adam Palmer on the right wing to look as though they may win the game.

The best chance of the match came in the 80th minute when Palmer jinked past two defenders and drilled a ball into the near post area, and fellow substitute Craig Cutts got to the ball first and slid a shot just wide.

The last action of the game saw Bergholt nearly grab a winner, John Camfield making a superb last-ditch challenge to keep the scores level.

County triumph for Haverhill youngsters

HAVERHILL Tennis Club's under-14 team have won their Suffolk Junior Winter League. The team of Sam Howard, Sam McDonald and Joshua Smith, who were unbeaten after playing matches at Wortham, Newmarket, Red Lodge and Culford, qualified for the final against A&M Tennis from Coddensham, who won the other division.

In the final, Howard and McDonald started, both going down 3-0 after 15 minutes. They soon rallied with McDonald winning the first set 6-4 and taking the second set 6-2. Howard lost his match narrowly 6-3, 7-6 so the final all depended on the doubles, which the Haverhill duo won convincingly 6-4, 6-2.

The winners received medals, a trophy, plaque and a cheque for their tennis club.

Haverhill held its penultimate competition of the winter series on Saturday with the 14U boys in action again. Three of the players who had taken part in the Suffolk final took part in the event – Howard, McDonald and Rhodri Durie (A&M), who played a solid match against Greg Birch and then Sam Jones to move into the semi-finals against Howard, who he had beaten the week before.

This time it was Howard, who came out on top 4-0, 4-2. In the top end of the draw, McDonald beat Gokhan Salman 4-1, 4-0 and then had to compete against the No 1 seed Alfie Kennard, who proved too strong, winning 4-2, 4-0.

The final between Kennard and Howard produced some brilliant games, with both boys struggling to hold their serves early on. Howard finally held his serve and won a tight first set 5-3. The second set was far more comfortable for Howard, who won it 4-1, rounding off an excellent week for the Haverhill player.
